it is concluded that systemic administration of flubiprofen is a potent inhibitor of human periodontal cyclooxygenase metabolites as measured in crevicular fluid.

three to seven days later, a suppository of misoprostol is inserted into a woman's vagina to trigger uterine contractions and expulsion of the tiny body of the child