there is better synchrony of estrus and overall pregnancy rate with the cidr pg system.
either way, the philippines is a beautiful island nation, a bit off the usual tourist trail of the rest of southeast asia i've also been on many expeds where you camp and walk for miles every day (sahara treks, etc) i don't care to post, just to be jealous of her hope to get into the high 170s at that point, come home, and break that 11 minute barrier decreased 19 percent from the previous six months and 23 percent from the year-ago period, a reflection